Introducing UVISION new surgical class optik

UVISION products are designed and manufactured in Germany using the same rigorous standards of excellence that have made German quality and performance the gold standard.

At UVISION we're constantly pushing the envelope, searching for ways to improve what are already the most technologically advanced products in the category. Surgical Class Optik is the most recent example of our efforts. We will continue to leverage our proprietary technologies so we can continue to provide the best possible products for you.

UVISION surgical class optik offers:

- Wavefront optimized lens technology provides enhanced clarity and reduced glare and eye fatigue even during long procedures.
- Lightweight construction with wrap around lens imparts unprecedented comfort and protection barrier.
- Innovative technology significantly reduces glare and eye fatigue. With advanced optics this means minimal distortion and with less distortion comes enhanced concentration.
- Limited re-use which means a cost effective value for hospitals.
- Surgical Class Optik is the result of extensive research and engineering with the needs of surgical nurses and physicians in mind. The end product provides truly innovative advancements in lens technology.
